		CLASSIFICATION	25X1
UNTR	٧	Soviet Zone, Germany REPORT NO.
PIC		irfield of STLNDAL-BORSTEL	25X1
i I Cento
01 11AT	100	see helow PLACE OBTAINED 25X1
		NTENT see below
re of		05)/4	25X1
FEREN
GES_	- 3	ENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)
	•
MARK	5
Catalog Cale	****
			. '
•			•
		17 June 1949
5X1	1.	One twin-engine commercial plane (windows on both sides fuselage) landed at the STENDAL-BORETEL (M 53/Y 75) airf at 11:30 a.m. on 17 June 1949 and took off again at 6 p.	ield
X1		22 June 1949
5X1	60	Fourteen fighters, but of these with in-line engines and propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at th field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *: an antenna led from the rea of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these air craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day.	le cut
5X1		propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *: an antenna led from the rea of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these air craft had red propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets	le cut
5X1		propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *: an antenna led from the read of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in	cut fr
5X1		propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *: an antenna led from the rea of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood	cut fr
		propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an antenna led from the read of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger.	cut fr
5X1	3.	propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an antenna led from the read of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger.	cut fr
5X1	3.	propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an antenna led from the read of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger.	cut fr
5X1 5X1	3.	propeller hubs and four with radial engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an antenna led from the rea of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these air craft had rad propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 23 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger.	radial
55X1 55X1 55X1	3. 4.	propeller hubs and four with railal engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an entennalled from the react of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these air craft had red propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 25 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger. 25 and 26 June 1949 Eleven fighters (low-wing manoplane; rounded off wings engine) and one biplane were parked in front of the hangers to an airfield worker, trucks were parked in the western there were practice flights at the field on 26 June 1949. Johnent: LA aircraft with two machine guns in each	radiol ; are in the state of th
5X1 5X1 5X1 5X1	3. 4.	propeller hubs and four with raifal engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an antennalled from the react of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these aix craft had red propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 25 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger. 25 and 26 June 1949 Eleven fighters (low-wing managione; mounded off wings engine) and one hiplane were parked in front of the hangers to an airfield worker, trucks were parked in the western there were practice flights at the field on 26 June 1949. Johnent: LA sircraft with two machine guns in each nave not been known.	radiol ; are in the state of th
	3. 4.	propeller hubs and four with railal engines landed at the field on 22 June 1949. The fighters with radial engines were painted light green; two machine guns projected at 20 inches over each wing *; an entennalled from the react of the cockpit to the rudder assembly; two of these air craft had red propeller hubs. Firing at sleeve targets was practiced all day. 28 June 1949 There was intensive flight training and firing at sleeve targets between 25 and 28 June 1949. Ten fighters stood the take-off point on 28 June 1949, ten more fighters in front of the middle hanger. 25 and 26 June 1949 Eleven fighters (low-wing manoplane; rounded off wings engine) and one biplane were parked in front of the hangers to an airfield worker, trucks were parked in the western there were practice flights at the field on 26 June 1949. Johnent: LA aircraft with two machine guns in each	radiol ; are in the state of th

Approved For Release 2003/08/11 : CIA-RDP82-00457R053300140009-8

Comments deport confirms that the STEADAL airfield was occupied by a flighter unit. According to both previous information

one flighter regiment, apparently equipped with takes and LAs, is assumed to be stationed in STEADAL. 25X1 25X1 25X1

BORSTEL.

